Other physical information:	1.53m., 63kg
Face shape:	Oval
Other personal information:	South African nationality, O+ blood type. Candidate is a Health and Safety Consultant. Message to recipient: The reason I chose to become an egg donor is deeply personal. My brother and his wife struggled for over 10 years to have a child. Watching them go through the emotional rollercoaster, the heartache, the hope, and the longing—opened my eyes to how incredibly tough the journey to parenthood can be for so many. Their story inspired me to help others in similar situations, to be a small part of giving someone the chance to experience the joy of having a child.

	I've also known the pain of loss—I lost my own daughter in a freak accident when she was just 18 months old. That heartbreak is something I wouldn't wish on anyone. It has made me even more aware of how precious life is, and how important it is to support others in building and cherishing their families. To my future recipient: I want you to know that this gift comes from a place of deep love, empathy, and hope. I may not know your name or your story, but I am holding space for your dream. I hope with all my heart that this small piece of me can help bring you the joy, love, and laughter that a child brings. You are not alone, and I am cheering for you every step of the way.
Reproduction history:	One child and has donated eggs three times before through AbabySA.
Views on religion and spirituality:	After losing my daughter Alice, who tragically drowned, my entire world shifted. That pain brought me to my knees—but it also brought me closer to God. In the quiet moments of grief, I found strength in prayer and in faith. I believe in a God who carries us when we can't walk, and who turns heartbreak into healing. My son is my miracle, my second chance—a beautiful gift that reminds me every day that life still holds purpose and light. For me, religion isn't just about going to church—it's about a personal relationship with God, walking in grace, and trusting Him even when I don't understand. My spirituality is deeply rooted in love, faith, and the belief that Alice is safe in His arms

I want to uplift others—whether it's through my radio show, empowering women, or helping people stay safe through health and safety training. I believe in being real, making a difference, and doing everything with soul.
If you had unlimited resources and could save one thing on earth what would it be?	If I had unlimited resources, I'd save the women and children who feel unseen, unsafe, and unheard. I'd build real support systems—homes, education, protection, and a future where they feel powerful and free. No one should feel like they're alone or walking on eggshells. And of course, I'd bring music and laughter into every space—because healing needs joy too
What are your views on religion and spirituality, and practiced religion?	After losing my daughter Alice, who tragically drowned, my entire world shifted. That pain brought me to my knees—but it also brought me closer to God. In the quiet moments of grief, I found strength in prayer and in faith. I believe in a God who carries us when we can't walk, and who turns heartbreak into healing. My son is my miracle, my second chance—a beautiful gift that reminds me every day that life still holds purpose and light. For me, religion isn't just about going to church—it's about a personal relationship with God, walking in grace, and trusting Him even when I don't understand. My spirituality is deeply rooted in love, faith, and the belief that Alice is safe in His arms

Childhood religion:	I was raised in the Old Apostolic Church, and growing up, my parents were very active—church every Sunday was a part of our life and identity. It gave me a strong spiritual foundation, a sense of community, and taught me early on about faith, discipline, and respect.
Any specific achievements or aspects of recognition in your family:	In my family, we each shine in our own way. I achieved SA colours in dancing, which was a huge milestone for me and something I'm really proud of—it taught me discipline, expression, and passion. My brother, on the other hand, is absolutely brilliant with numbers. He received distinctions in maths and has always been known as the brainy one when it comes to anything analytical. Our family celebrates each other's strengths, whether it's creativity or academics
Interests and hobbies:	I'm a creative soul with a love for music, dancing, and all things expressive. I've got SA colours in dancing and it still runs in my blood—I'll dance in the kitchen, on the beach, or wherever the vibe is right. I also have a deep passion for health and safety because I love protecting people and creating order where it matters. Being on the radio is a big part of me too—it's where my voice meets purpose. I enjoy anything that connects people, whether it's meaningful chats, empowering women, or just a good laugh with friends. Oh, and give me a mic, a plan, and a bit of chaos—I'll turn it into something beautiful
What is your preferred holiday?	Beach
If you were offered an all-inclusive holiday, what would it be?	If I were offered an all-inclusive holiday, I'd take my husband and son to Italy—no doubt. I'd love for us to explore his Italian heritage together, walk the old streets, eat real pasta, and soak in the culture that's part of who he is. It wouldn't just be a holiday—it would be about connection, roots, and showing my son where a piece of his story began. We'd make memories that last forever, surrounded by beauty, history, and family love.

Which interesting places have you visited?	I've been lucky to visit some really beautiful spots like Mossel Bay, Uniondale, and Scottburgh. Each place has its own special vibe, but what I love most is being close to nature—whether it's the ocean breeze, mountain views, or quiet moments outdoors. Nature grounds me and gives me peace, so any place with fresh air and beauty feels like home
What are your feelings on animal welfare?	We help out at an animal shelter a few times on Saturdays to give back and support those who can't speak for themselves. Caring for animals is just part of who I am, and I love cats.
Strength and weaknesses:	Strengths - I'm real, hardworking, and loyal to the bone. When I commit to something or someone, I'm all in—no half measures. I'm creative, especially when it comes to problem-solving and bringing energy into whatever I do, like on the radio or in health and safety training. I'm also a great listener and care deeply about people, which helps me connect and support others in a genuine way. Weaknesses - Sometimes I'm too hard on myself and expect perfection, which can lead to stress or overthinking. I also tend to carry the weight of others' problems a bit too much because I genuinely want to help everyone. At times, I find it hard to say no or ask for help when I need it, but I'm learning that's okay—it doesn't make me any less strong
What do others generally think of you?	Others generally see me as someone they can trust and rely on. They say I'm warm and down-to-earth, with a good sense of humor that makes people feel comfortable. I'm known for being loyal and always having a listening ear when someone needs to talk.
