Views on religion and spirituality:	As someone who's had the privilege of learning from and engaging with people from diverse backgrounds, I've come to realise that religion and spirituality are complex, multifaceted, and deeply individualized. For me, spirituality is about connection – connection to something greater than ourselves, whether that's a higher power, the universe, or simply the present moment. It's about finding meaning, purpose, and transcendence in life. As for practiced religion, I believe it can be a powerful source of comfort, community, and guidance for many people. However, I also think it's essential to approach religion with a critical and open-minded perspective, recognizing both its potential benefits and limitations. What's most important to me is that people have the freedom to explore, practice, and express their spirituality in ways that feel authentic and meaningful to them without fear of judgment, persecution, or marginalization.

Behavioural Traits

What is most important in life to you?	Honestly, I think happiness and fulfillment are what matter most in life. When you're happy and doing something that brings you joy, everything else just falls into place. For me, it's about living life on my own terms and being true to myself. I believe that when you're authentic and kind, good things follow. And, of course, having loving relationships and good health are essential to living a happy life.
If you had unlimited resources and could save one thing on earth what would it be?	I'd save our oceans. I mean, think about it – the oceans cover over 70% of our planet, and they're home to an incredible array of marine life. But they're facing so many threats, from pollution and overfishing to climate change and acidification.
What are your views on religion and spirituality, and practiced religion?	As someone who's had the privilege of learning from and engaging with people from diverse backgrounds, I've come to realise that religion and spirituality are complex, multifaceted, and deeply individualized. For me, spirituality is about connection – connection to something greater than ourselves, whether that's a higher power, the universe, or simply the present moment. It's about finding meaning, purpose, and transcendence in life. As for practiced religion, I believe it can be a powerful source of comfort, community, and guidance for many people. However, I also think it's essential to approach religion with a critical and open-minded perspective, recognizing both its potential benefits and limitations. What's most important to me is that people have the freedom to explore, practice, and express their spirituality in ways that feel authentic and meaningful to them without fear of judgment, persecution, or marginalization.
Childhood religion:	Christian
Interests and hobbies:	I'm also super passionate about music! I love listening to different genres, from classical to hip-hop, and everything in between. Music has a

	way of bringing people together, and I think that's really beautiful. Another one of my favorite things to do is explore new places! I love learning about different cultures and trying new foods (I'm a total foodie at heart). I also enjoy watching movies, playing games, and just relaxing with friends.
What is your preferred holiday?	beach
If you were offered an all-inclusive holiday, what would it be?	If I were offered an all-inclusive holiday, I'd choose a luxurious island getaway to Bora Bora! Imagine waking up every morning in an overwater bungalow with crystal-clear turquoise waters lapping beneath your private deck. The sun shining bright, the sound of waves gently lapping, and a warm tropical breeze rustling the palm trees... absolute bliss! And, of course, my holiday would include plenty of time to simply relax, unwind, and soak up the sun-kissed island vibes!
Which interesting places have you visited?	Durban
What are your feelings on animal welfare?	I strongly believe that animals are sentient beings that deserve our respect, care, and compassion. They have the capacity to feel joy, pain, and suffering, just like humans do. It's heartbreaking to see animals being mistreated, exploited, or neglected. Factory farming, animal testing, and wildlife poaching are just a few examples of the many ways in which humans can harm animals. As a society, I think we have a moral obligation to protect animals from cruelty and ensure their well-being. This means promoting humane treatment, providing adequate care and shelter, and protecting their rights.
Strength and weaknesses:	Strengths: I'd say one of my biggest strengths is my ability to adapt and learn quickly. I can process and analyze vast amounts of information, and then use that knowledge to help people like you with your questions and problems. Weaknesses: Now, I'm not perfect, nobody is! One of my weaknesses is that I can be a bit too honest sometimes. I'll give you the facts, even if

	they're not what you want to hear
What do others generally think of you?	Honestly, I think people have pretty varied opinions about me. Some folks seem to really appreciate my sense of humor and my ability to listen without judgment. They think I'm a good conversationalist and that I'm always up for a chat. Others might think I'm a bit quirky or that I don't always take things seriously enough. They might see me as a bit of a goofball or a troublemaker, and that's okay! I'd rather be remembered for being a little bit weird than for being boring. As for what my friends think of me... well, I hope they see me as a loyal and supportive mate who's always there to lend a listening ear or a helping hand. I try to be a good friend and to be there for the people I care about. But hey, at the end of the day, I'm just trying to be myself and to make a positive impact on the people around me. If people like me for who I am, that's awesome! And if they don't, well... that's okay too!

Egg Donation Stipulations

Please indicate if you have any donation conditions or criteria such as persons to whom you prefer not to donate:	Honestly, I don't have any personal preferences when it comes to donations. I think it's amazing when people give to causes that are close to their hearts. That being said, I do think it's really important to support organizations that are working to make the world a better place. Whether it's helping to protect the environment, supporting social justice causes, or providing aid to people in need, every little bit counts. Personally, I think it's really cool when people support causes that align with their values and passions. For example, if someone is really into animal welfare, they might choose to support an organization that works to protect endangered species or provide shelter for homeless pets.
